Brophy College Preparatory
A Catholic, Jesuit High School

Educatings Men for Others
Since 1928
“Brophy has been great at offering me a place to be challenged and to pursue my passions and interests. However, I feel that above all else, Brophy has given me a sense of belonging, right from the day I shadowed.”

REESE CANTU, CLASS OF ‘22
Our Mission

Brophy is a private, Jesuit, Catholic college preparatory that is committed to the belief that all creation is a reflection of God’s love and presence which demands a passionate and generous response from the entire community. We are dedicated to students of all socio-economic backgrounds who have the potential and desire to maximize their God-given gifts.

By creating an atmosphere for academic, emotional and spiritual growth, Brophy develops critically thinking, articulate, sensitive and aware students with a strong sense of self-worth. Through the process of nurturing the soul, Brophy offers these students an intimate relationship with God and inspires leaders who are devoted to the service of others in a global community.
THANK YOU FOR YOUR INTEREST in Brophy College Preparatory!

The high school years are truly a transformational time in a young man’s life. This experience affects what he knows, whom he knows, what he believes in, who his friends will be, how he studies, how he prays, and so much more. At Brophy, we are privileged to walk with our students during this crucial time, preparing them in the Jesuit tradition to become men of faith, love, service and leadership.

While you’ll learn a lot about our school by reading this book, I invite you to come see for yourself what makes Brophy such a special place. Attend our Open House. Spend a day shadowing a current student. While we are not sure what our school events will look like this fall due to the pandemic, we hope to offer both some in-person and virtual events. There’s nothing like the Brophy community — a place our students, alumni, faculty, staff and parents all call home. We hope you’ll consider making it your home, too.

Sincerely,

Michael T. Ward
Director of Admissions

THE BROPHY EXPERIENCE IS SO MUCH MORE than a comprehensive college preparatory education. Yes, a Brophy graduate is ready for the rigors of college, but more importantly, he has become a Man for Others, someone whose heart and mind are open to the world around him. He has developed a deep awareness of his gifts and talents; he has learned to think critically about the world and, as a result, he understands the importance of making service to others a part of his life’s journey.

For more than 90 years, Brophy has been committed to the Jesuit ideal of educating the whole person — mind, body and spirit. That commitment has not changed despite the challenges we’ve faced at this moment in history. We’ve continued to offer the academics, student life and faith formation that make up the Jesuit educational experience even as we, at times, have had to re-think how that experience was delivered. Throughout this period, we have continued to emphasize working for the greater good.

Our graduates are leaders who are making a difference in business, the arts, politics, the Church, and throughout local and global communities. We are proud to be a part of the formation of these remarkable young men, and we invite you to learn more about how you can join their ranks.

Sincerely,

Adria Renke

BROPHY COLLEGE PREPARATORY was established in 1928 when Mrs. William Henry Brophy gave the California Province of the Society of Jesus (now Jesuits West) the land and funds necessary to build a Jesuit, Catholic boys’ school in honor of her late husband.

As a Catholic school, Brophy is rooted in the teachings and person of Jesus Christ.

Brophy encourages dialogue between Christian faith and contemporary thought, and welcomes people of all faiths as full partners who enrich our community.

In the Jesuit tradition, the students, faculty and staff of Brophy do all things Ad Majorem Dei Gloriam — for the greater glory of God — AMDG.
WHEN A STUDENT ENROLLS AT BROPHY, he becomes much more than a Bronco. In 1973, Fr. Pedro Arrupe, SJ, said “Today our prime educational objective must be to form men-for-others...men who cannot even conceive of love of God which does not include love for the least of their neighbors, men completely convinced that love of God which does not issue justice for others is a farce.”

Today, in every Jesuit school in the world, the formation of Men for Others is the hallmark of Jesuit education. At Brophy, this ideal permeates every aspect of a student’s life: from the classroom to the playing field and into the world beyond. A Brophy man comes to embrace his responsibility to live his life in the service of others.

“To be a Man for Others is to enter into a state of humility and put others’ needs before your own. These qualities are not defined by a singular gesture, but rather reflected through daily actions, which serve to make us more complete individuals. This is part of our everyday experience at Brophy.”

GUSTAVO CHAVEZ, CLASS OF ’21
A Brophy student is a well-rounded, lifelong learner who thinks critically about the world around him.
THE UNIQUE GIFT of a Jesuit education is learning how to think. As Brophy’s young men explore subjects ranging from literature, to mathematics, to science, to the arts, they become lifelong learners who continually question and grow in their appreciation of the world and their place in it.

At Brophy, students participate actively in their learning environment, taking responsibility for their own intellectual development while being guided by gifted teachers who support them on their academic journey.

Because Brophy is a college prep school, classes prepare students for the rigors of a college curriculum, offering numerous honors and AP classes, along with the option to dual enroll in many upper-level classes for college credit.

“Intellectual competence is not just being knowledgeable in textbook information. Instead, I see it as having an understanding of the world around you and the many injustices present in it. Brophy has taught me not just how to excel in school academically, but to also critically think for myself and educate myself on how to seek out change where it is desperately needed. I feel like when you approach Brophy with this goal in mind, it will clearly change you as a whole for the better and makes you an intellectually competent young man.”

ALLAN GEORGE
CLASS OF ‘20

Intellectually Competent

Every day, students are immersed in the Jesuit principles of faith, love and service to others.
Academics Beyond the Classroom
BROPHY TALENT is not just showcased on playing fields and stages. A number of academic teams consistently do well at regional, state and national competitions, including Mock Trial, the Math Team, the Chess Team, Quiz Bowl, Robotics, Speech and Debate, and the young scientists who compete in science fairs, symposiums and the USA Biology Olympiad. Students publish the Science Journal of Brophy, in addition to the multi-award winning publications, The Brophy Roundup and the Brophy Literary and Arts Magazine (BLAM).

Additionally, many Brophy students get real-world experience working as interns in laboratories and businesses, including the Mayo Clinic, Barrow Neurological Institute, Phoenix Children’s Hospital and ASU. The Religious Studies Department has added the Romero Program which places students at local nonprofits and helps give them the training to become leaders working toward equity and justice for marginalized communities.

BROPHY STUDENTS HAVE COUNTELESS opportunities for self-discovery, not just in the classroom, but in the myriad activities in which they can choose to be involved.

Students seeking to deepen their commitment to service find great satisfaction in organizations such as Key Club, Best Buddies and Big Brothers. Student Government, Diplomatic Corps and Young Democrats/Young Republicans educate and encourage community leadership.

Artistic growth opportunities are endless with Write Life (creative writing), Brophy Student Theatre (student-produced performances), Musicians Exchange, The Roundup, The Wrangler, Brophy Literary and Arts Magazine (BLAM) and multiple choir and band ensembles, just to name a few.

The ethnic and religious diversity synonymous with a Jesuit education is evident in clubs such as Hermanos Unidos, Black Student Union, Middle Eastern Club, Jewish Student Union, Interfaith Coalition and others. Additionally, a group of students wishing to start a new club that appeals to their special interests are encouraged to do so with the help of a faculty or staff moderator.

More than 95% of Brophy students participate in at least one co-curricular activity.

Brophy fields freshman teams in football, basketball, soccer, baseball, tennis and volleyball.
PARTICIPATING IN SPORTS AT BROPHY means not only carrying on a tradition of athletic excellence, but also learning the importance of teamwork, self-discipline and sportsmanship. Brophy coaches demand every athlete’s personal best, both physically and academically, and expect them to respect their teammates, their opponents and themselves. As these young men test their limits and grow as individuals, they also grow together as a team, forming bonds that truly last a lifetime.

Brophy fields teams in 12 Arizona Interscholastic Association (AIA) sports (competing in the top Premier region) and sponsors competitive club programs in crew, hockey, lacrosse, rugby, mountain biking and archery. Football, cross country, wrestling, freshman tennis, and track and field are no-cut, providing an opportunity for everyone to participate in a sport year-round. The newest AIA sport at Brophy is esports which debuted in 2019-20 and brought home the inaugural esports state title in fall 2019. Every year, more than half of Brophy students participate in athletics. Brophy teams have won 98 state titles over the years.

Brophy offers stellar sports facilities, including the most recent addition, the Harry T. “Dutch” Olivier, S.J. Athletic Complex (The Dutch). The Dutch provides 47,400 square feet of space that includes a full-size gym, a wrestling room, indoor running track, weight room, fitness center and training area, two golf simulators, classrooms, locker rooms and student lounges.

Other facilities include Robson Gym, Brophy Sports Campus, the Edward A. Reese, S.J. Aquatic Center, Opus Baseball Field and the Strittmatter Center for Sports Medicine.

Brophy athletes compete AMDG — Ad Majorem Dei Gloriam — for the greater glory of God. (See the Athletic insert for more information on Brophy sports.)

“When you compete in athletics at Brophy, not only do you and your teammates have the ability to compete at the highest level in your sport, but you also have the honor of representing the Brophy community outside of the school grounds.”

NICHOLAS HAHNE, CLASS OF ’22
A Brophy student is committed to bringing about a more humane, just and sustainable world, using what he has learned for the well-being of all.
A STRONG SPIRITUAL FORMATION is the heart of Brophy’s mission to form Men for Others. The four-year Religious Studies curriculum is rooted in the foundations of Catholic theology, Catholic social teaching and Ignatian spirituality. These elements are brought together during the Senior Synthesis project where each student spends a semester reading, discussing, reflecting and finally, writing about his own faith journey.

Jesuits — both ordained priests and seminarians — are visible, active members of the Brophy community, teaching classes and providing students the opportunity to attend weekly mass and regularly receive the sacrament of reconciliation.

While every student is expected to learn about and respect the Catholic faith, there is an open atmosphere that encourages dialogue and exploration of other faiths, as well as respect for all faith traditions. Each day begins with a prayer and, after lunch, the entire Brophy community stops for five minutes to pray the Examen of St. Ignatius, a time of reflection that brings into focus one’s relationship with God. An all-school mass is celebrated monthly, and students are encouraged to take part in the Magis and Kairos retreats offered throughout the year.

Being religious at Brophy means to honor God, and to honor each other. The importance of kindness to people of all faiths builds relationships throughout all of Brophy’s campus.”

GRANT SOBEK
CLASS OF ’22
Retreats are a definitive part of Jesuit education. From the Freshman Retreat, to Magis, Kairos, and finally, Threshold, Brophy retreats are essential formative — and often, transformative — experiences.
The Pedro Arrupe, S.J. Office of Faith and Justice

The Office of Faith and Justice (OFJ) not only lies at the heart of Brophy’s campus, it is also the heart of Brophy’s Jesuit mission — to be Men for Others. Students learn that an important expression of their faith is through service to others and working for social justice. The OFJ coordinates service projects, retreats, immersion opportunities, liturgies and prayer services, as well as the annual Summit on Human Dignity.

The OFJ provides an accepting place for young men to explore their faith and freely discuss social issues affecting the Brophy community and the world beyond. The OFJ staff encourages students to step out of their comfort zone as they learn to serve a world in need. We invite families who would like to find out more about this important part of our Jesuit community to visit the Ministry section of our website.

Brophy’s Big Brothers

Brophy’s Big Brother program is designed to help each freshman find his place in the Brophy community. Big Brothers are upperclassmen who offer advice and encouragement to their Little Brothers throughout freshman year. The Freshman Retreat, a defining event in the life of every Brophy freshman, occurs early in the school year and is led by the Big Brothers. Through events like Brotherhood Day, the New Family Barbecue and regular Big Brother/Little Brother lunch meetings, the friendships made among this group of students often last long beyond their years at Brophy.

Retreats

Retreats are an integral part of the Brophy experience — an opportunity for students to get away, encounter God, and experience spiritual growth and renewal. The annual Freshman Retreat is on campus; however, most retreats are at Brophy’s retreat campus, Manresa, within Arizona’s beautiful Oak Creek Canyon.

The retreat center is named for the town in Spain where St. Ignatius spent a year in solitude, praying and composing the majority of his best-known work, “The Spiritual Exercises.”

A peaceful extension of the Brophy campus, Manresa is utilized by the entire Brophy community for retreats throughout the year. Sports teams and other school groups will spend a few days at Manresa to reflect on their shared tasks and strengthen their bonds. It is also home to two of the most important spiritual experiences at Brophy — the Magis and Kairos retreats.

At Magis, second-semester sophomores and first-semester juniors come together to explore their personal spiritual journey through the lens of Ignatian spirituality, focusing on personal responsibility and leadership. During the four-day Kairos retreat, seniors and second-semester juniors examine their own relationship with God and discover their own identity while building stronger relationships with each other.

Retreats at Manresa offer participants a unique opportunity to get closer to their community, to nature, and to God.
ESSENTIAL TO A JESUIT education is cura personalis, a Latin phrase that translates to care for the whole person. It means that every Brophy teacher, counselor, coach and administrator is committed to every student’s intellectual, spiritual, social and emotional growth.

In this nurturing environment, students learn the importance of creating a community that models the Gospel teaching of loving one another as Christ loves us.

During his four years at Brophy, a student comes to realize his place in the world, moving away from being self-centered and forging a more mature relationship with God and his community. He will discover for himself that the face of God is in every one of his teachers, coaches, fellow students and most all all, those who are in need, and he will learn to use his talents and gifts in the service of others.

Students come to understand the importance of creating a loving community.

“The Brophy student knows that every experience points towards one end — love. Love for your brothers who surround you, love for the service that completes you, and love for God who transcends all.”

A Brophy student is guided by a strong moral compass that leads him to a life that is ethically sound and committed to doing justice.
Committed to Doing Justice

A JESUIT EDUCATION DEMANDS that a student look beyond himself and come to a realization of the great responsibility he has been given to live out the message of the Gospel. At Brophy, the Pedro Arrupe, S.J. Office of Faith and Justice (OFJ) guides every student through the service and immersion experiences that are an integral part of the curriculum and of justice formation. These programs are accompanied by study and reflection on the systemic practices that perpetuate racial discrimination, economic disparity and all types of injustice, with action and advocacy the ultimate outgrowth and goal of service and immersion learning.

Immersion trips are especially formative as students engage at a different level, entering into relationships of solidarity that lead to a more profound understanding of discipleship. These trips — to Guatemala, El Salvador, Peru and other destinations — go beyond an opportunity to serve and instead place students side by side with those struggling for dignity, equity and justice.

A highlight of spring is the annual two-week Summit on Human Dignity which addresses an important social topic, such as climate change, restorative justice, or inclusive citizenship in today’s democratic process. The topic is examined through guest speakers, classroom activities, workshops and cross-curricular dialogue with an exploration of how to continue learning about the subject, as well as how to create effective advocacy efforts. The 2021 Summit on Human Dignity will address racial justice.

“Brophy reveals to you that the world isn’t perfect while it hands you the tools to collectively fix it. It has revealed my mission as a Jesuit-educated young man to always strive for equality and justice for all without question. It has taught me to use my skills and privilege to fight for those who are most vulnerable and in need.”

BROPHY WORKS TO ESTABLISH a thoughtful, cordial and effective relationship with parents, understanding that teaching our young men is a profoundly important responsibility we share. Brophy strives to provide open lines of communication at all times with faculty and administration, and to keep the parent community fully informed on issues both large and small.

All parents are members of the Mothers’ Guild and the Dads’ Club. Brophy also encourages families to find support and camaraderie through the Brophy Black Family Alliance and the Padres Latinos Unidos de Brophy.

We know we will be a better school, a stronger community and more impactful teachers when we work together, communicate often, and fully commit to our shared mission and values.
Admissions

Brophy College Preparatory is open to young men who are ready to embrace the challenges of a rigorous college preparatory education, who are prepared to begin a lifelong journey of faith and service to others, and who share our passion for attaining the goals and ideals outlined in the Jesuit Profile of the Graduate at Graduation.

Brophy’s application process is done almost entirely online. After a family creates a username and password, they are able to proceed through the admissions process, tracking each step — from the initial request for information to the final decision of the Admissions Committee.

THE ENTRANCE EXAM

Brophy uses the High School Placement Test for Catholic Schools (HSPT), an instrument that measures a student’s competency in verbal and quantitative skills, reading comprehension, mathematics and language while providing insight into his potential and readiness for a high school curriculum. Applicants are strongly encouraged to take the exam when it is administered at Brophy to ensure that the results are available when the Admissions Committee meets to make its decisions. Applicants who do not take the exam at Brophy are expected to complete the writing sample of the test on the same day they are interviewed.

BRONCO-FOR-A-DAY SHADOW PROGRAM

Designed to allow prospective students the opportunity to spend a day at Brophy, the Shadow Program gives each applicant a firsthand experience of what it is like to be a Brophy student. In the course of his day, the prospective student accompanies his host through a normal schedule and becomes familiar with the campus, the academic programs and the Brophy community. Shadow Days are reserved for eighth graders and are scheduled online.
